Customer Feedback:

I'd experienced Kyphosis for most of my life, with the condition becoming steadily worse recently. The weakening back muscles has meant a decline in everyday physical functions. Activities that you take for granted such as walking or getting out of a chair was becoming more challenging.

My therapist encouraged me to try an Alivio Lift chair - the power backrest combined with power head/footrest means that I could easily achieve (and adjust to) comfortable positions every time. The chairs lift and tilt feature provides a pain-free way to get up securely and confidently and go about my everyday business.

Therapist Feedback:

For clients with postural complaints or conditions - the ability to customise head, lumbar, back and feet position; can make a world of difference to their comfort levels. The ability to make frequent posture adjustments over a period of time is also very reassuring.

The Alivio Lift Recliner Range provides an excellent choice of sizes, features, and individual preferences - which is why I recommend Alivio to my clients time and time again.
